Deluxe Guide Book for the Forsaken

Warning: Spoilers ahead, dood!

Characters

Valvatorez

A vampire who works as a Prinny Instructor in Hades, the Netherworld's prison. He used to be a notorious tyrant in both the Human World and the Netherworld. However, ever since a certain incident, he forbid himself from drinking human blood. Consequently, he has lost most of his power. He despises injustice and follows his own ascetic point of view about evilness. As he realizes the corruption of the current Netherworld regime, he stands up for social reform.

Comment by Voice Actor: Tatsuhiro Suzuki

Val was so much fun to play and his role was very easy to get into. He is lighthearted and enthusiastic about Prinnyes and sardines, but passionate and eager when it comes to his promises. I felt a little envious of Val. Doing this role was like being on a journey with everyone else in the party. He's a very likeable demon. The recording went on for a few days, but as the last day came closer, I already missed him. Toward the end, there were several instances when I voluntarily suggested to retake some of the lines. I think I was starting to get influenced by Val's unyielding mindset.

Fenrich

A young member of the Wolves who serves Valvatorez. He is obsessed with and maintains absolute loyalty for Valvatorez. He refers to Valvatorez as "My Lord," with the utmost respect. He is quite cunning and spins lies in a cool manner. Everything he does is for his lord, Valvatorez's sake. His goal is for his lord to become the ruler of the Netherworld.

Comment by Voice Actor: Wataru Hatano

Valvatorez's loyal steward... A little...no, actually, very conniving! But that's what I love about this guy. Nothing compares to the strength of his vows for Lord Val. All is for my Lord...

Fuka Kazamatsuri

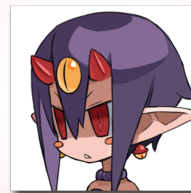

A middle schooler who lost her life and was sent down to Hades. She was supposed to become a Prinny, but because of a shortage of Prinny hide, she ended up with just a Prinny Hat instead. She doesn't remember committing any crimes, nor will she admit that she ever died. She thinks that everything that's happening in Hades is all just part of a dream she's having...

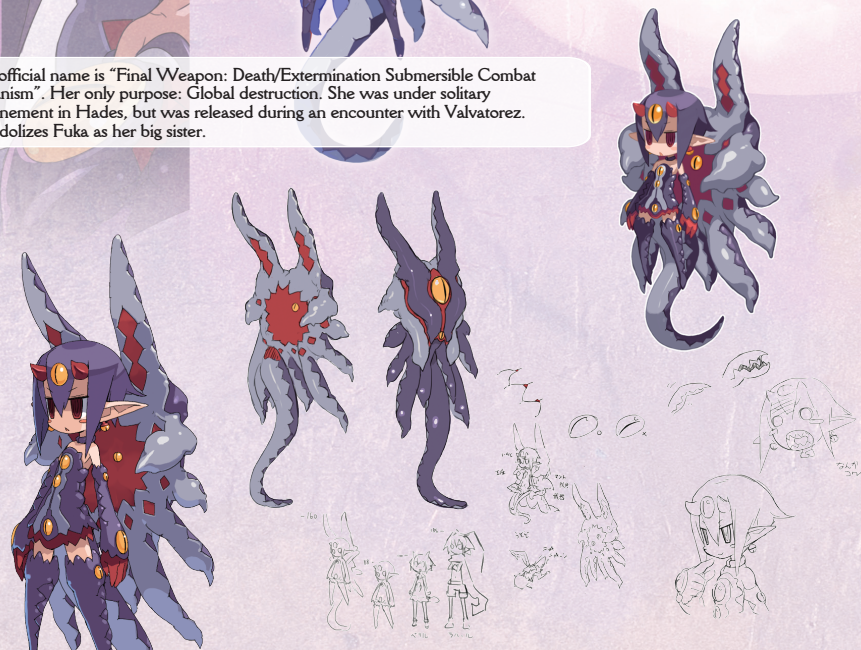

Comment by Voice Actress: Suzuko Mimori

Fuka Kazamatsuri is a stubborn and competitive little girl. She's a so-called tsundere, right? I've always wanted to play a tsundere role. I didn't know I had it in me, until the recording started. It was very fun! Fuka also has this side to her where she can be dreamy. I thought the gap between her two sides was really cute. She's bratty, but you can't hate her. I wouldn't mind having a little sister like her. I hope everyone will take a liking to her, too!

Desco

Her official name is "Final Weapon: Death/Extermination Submersible Combat Organism". Her only purpose: Global destruction. She was under solitary confinement in Hades, but was released during an encounter with Valvatorez. She idolizes Fuka as her big sister.

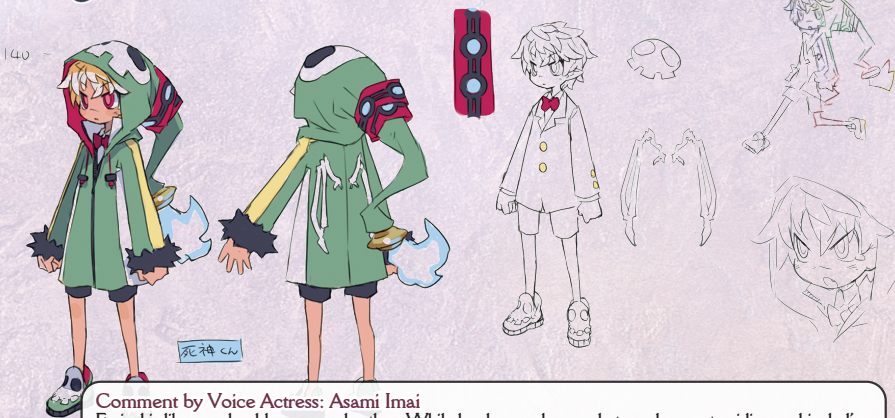

Comment by Voice Actress: Manabi Mizuno

When I heard her role was going to be a final boss, I thought I needed to be dark, strong, and evil... But when I opened up the script, I was confused. laughs Desco is cute and cheers up the party. I had a lot of fun with her role! She's completely confused about everything, but she loves people, she's gentle, and very powerful. I love this girl. I hope everyone else will too! By the way, I wonder what's going on with Desco's outfit...? I would totally dress up in it, if it were possible.

Emizel

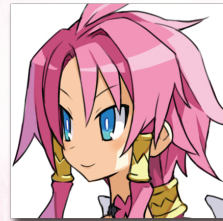

The only son of the current Netherworld President. As the leader of a special assassination force that works directly for the President, he appears to exterminate the revolting Valvatorez. A spoiled brat who doesn't realize he's only riding his father's coattails.

Comment by Voice Actress: Asami Imai

Emizel is like an adorable younger brother. While he does and says whatever he wants, riding on his dad's coattails, he can be pretty helpless. He might get on your nerves sometimes, but please be patient with him! You will surely see a different side of him soon enough.

Artina

An infamous angel in the Netherworld who is also known as the Angel of Avarice. She steals money and other valuables from all over the Netherworld. She claims that she came to return all the money that was unlawfully transferred to the Netherworld from Celestia.

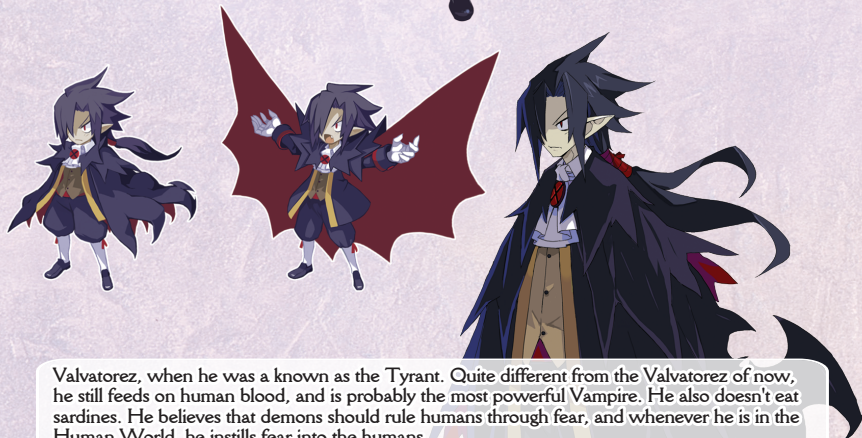

Comment by Voice Actress: Eri Kitamura

Just look closely! Her cute, incomparable looks and the beautiful character design! Yes! She is no doubt one of the key characters to the story. Can you smell how important she is? I couldn't believe I got to play such a role. I'm so happy, I'm about to vomit blood. I begged to be part of Disgaea 4 for a long time, I told them I'd do anything, even an old man's role. And I finally got to...! I remember vividly how nervous and excited I was at the recording. As the story progresses, she will reveal her true self along with her motives. I hope many people will come to love her.

Tyrant Valvatorez

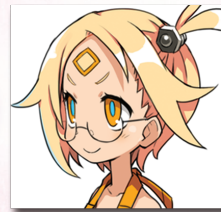

"Humans who sow chaos in this world, the time for you to face justice has come."

Valvatorez, when he was known as the Tyrant. Quite different from the Valvatorez of now, he still feeds on human blood, and is probably the most powerful Vampire. He also doesn't eat sardines. He believes that demons should rule humans through fear, and whenever he is in the Human World, he instills fear into the humans.

Nagi Clockwork

"I hope you're watching this, Mom, Dad, and Big Sis... I'm going to do my best."

A new character who appears in the Time Leap story. She is the reason Fuka and Desco end up in the Human World of the past. She is strong willed, but underneath her tough facade she hides a very sad past. She uses a technique called Mechanology in order to stop the war around her.

Axel

"I've been through much worse and survived to get to where I am now! I'm Warden Axel!"

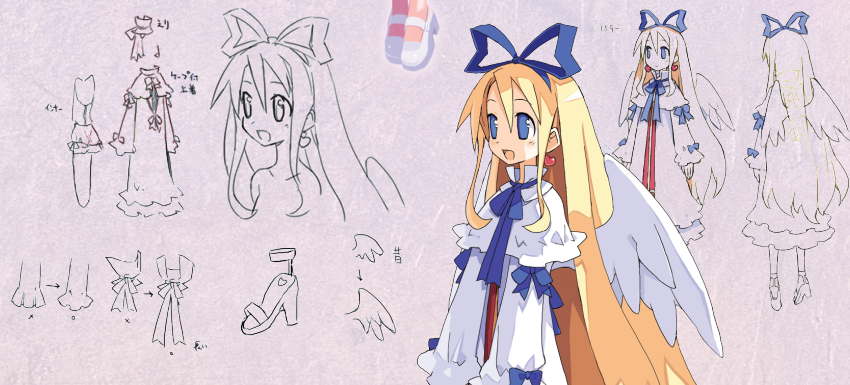

The young warden of Hades who is also Valvatorez's boss. Apparently, he used to be a super-popular Dark Hero in another Netherworld, but he is a zero in his current Netherworld.

Archangel Flonne

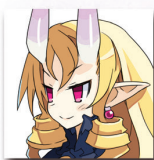

"What is the most important thing for you to do right now? Just listen to your heart, and do whatever it tells you."

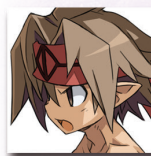

After returning to Celestia, Flonne was promoted to the rank of Archangel. Could she have something to do with Vulcanus' presence in the Netherworld?

Stella Grossular

She is the Student Body President of Death Institute, Majin Academy, and is the Dean's only daughter. Although she may seem harsh and stuck up, she has a childish, prank-loving side, too.

Warriors

Fighting is a way of life in the Netherworld. You officially become a Warrior on the day you make a contract with the God of War, Grandell. Warriors travel the Netherworld as soldiers and train hard every day. They dress very lightly, but they can harden their bodies for improved defense. They also specialize in swords and close combat. Warriors are an essential force in the Netherworld, where battles are a daily occurrence.

Rutile

Her father is a human and her mother is a Nekomata. She is so very kind and honest. Contrary to her cute, skinny appearance, she is extremely strong.

Valkyries

It is rare that a demon girl is born with the potential to become a Valkyrie. Those with potential are taken in by a retired Valkyrie, to become a Liebe, or Valkyrie-in-Training. The training is hard and intense. A retired Valkyrie will only take in one Liebe in her lifetime. Because of the hardships a Valkyrie goes through during her training, she tends to have a tough personality.

Magicians

Boys who are interested in developing magical powers enroll in a Magic Academy. Only those who survive through the intensive training here are allowed to be proclaimed as magicians and are given the traditional uniform and a pair of glasses to support their focus and powers. Compared to Witches, these boys are more motivated and studious.

Clerics

Healing magic did not originally exist in the Netherworld. It's said to have been taught and spread by fallen angels who were exiled from Celestia. They used to be looked down upon in the Netherworld, but demons eventually realized that healing powers are a necessity in battle. Those with superior powers are said to be as powerful as the Seraph. They follow the practice of Vinaya, and their eyes are kept closed at all times, except for when they're open.

Witches

Many female demons are born with Witch powers. The Magic Association provides special ribbons to amateur Witch girls in order to help control their powers. The ribbon acts as an antenna, which receives information on new magic from the Association, then directs the information to their brains. Because they're able to learn new knowledge effortlessly, most Witches are very relaxed and lack any sense of urgency.

Prinnies

They are the burdened souls of humans, which have fallen to Hades. They are trained to be Prinnies in Hades before they are shipped off to the various areas of the Netherworld. As they pay off their sins through hard work, they await their chance to reincarnate. Prinnies are said to be the weakest demons in the Netherworld, and they have a tendency to explode when thrown. Their mechanics are still a mystery, so you must be careful when handling them.

Lady Samurai

They pride themselves with their will to protect and follow a unique practice called Bushi-road. As holy guardians of the path that connects the Netherworld and other parallel worlds, they have long prevented intruders from crossing over. However, after a great cataclysm their holy lands were lost, and many samurai were forced to become professional sword masters. They're very loyal to their masters, who have every faith in their skills.

Gunners

As bounty hunters and lone gunmen, they travel throughout the Netherworld. They are experts with all kinds of guns, and with their "evil eye" they can hone in on any target at any distance, using just their concentration which is even higher than that of magicians. They don't travel in packs and they never become anyone's personal gunner. They only break that rule when they find a trustworthy partner.

Ninjas

They follow the practice of Ninpo, which is based on spying and secrecy. They hide in darkness and can take anyone's life in a blink of an eye. Many authorities fear the Ninja's power. They follow strict rules and take pride in their absolute loyalty to their master. Some Ninjas are hired as undercover agents. You never know who's your ally and who's your enemy.

Archers

They're from an all-women, ice mountain village called Badre. Although it's an icy area, the village is always surrounded by warm air because of the blessings they get from the spirits. The Archers hear the voices of the wind and specialize in archery. They believe that archery is the epitome of combat and despise all other means. Their breasts evolved to become smaller so that they won't interfere with archery.

Armor Knights

They are the graduates of the Knight's Academy, which teaches the ways of the Netherworld royal knights. They learn to become Armor Knights through battle training and real combat experience. They're donned in dark armor with high defense power. They serve to protect and fight for their masters. Many kids idolize the Armor Knights for their bravery.

Masked Heroes

An unidentified organization of self-proclaimed heroes. They follow the motto, "Help the weak, break the strong," and admire Prinny Mask. They dress up in homemade costumes and fly around the Netherworld, seeking out cries for help. At the same time, though, they will run away as fast as they can if their opponent turns out to be more powerful than they are. They're some of the strangest demons, so most other demons try to avoid all contact with them. Their popularity among the Prinnies is probably due to their appearance.

Thieves

In a demon society, theft has been recognized as a traditional technical field since ancient times. Their skills of stealing, not just monetary objects but things that are not visible to the naked eye, like emotions, hold infinite possibilities and draw attention as being the most evolutionary of technologies.

Magic Knights

Valkyries with the power to control magic. They're very rare amongst demonic families. They possess the power of the Zone, which allows them to see the future. They're also known as researchers of the universal truth. They frequently communicate with Professors, since they share a common interest. They are faithful followers of a practice called the "Sword's Oath", and whoever breaks the oath must be punished with death.

Sorcerers

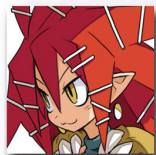

They are the messengers of curses, who spread bad luck and unhappiness. They worship Dolvalky the Deity of Despair. They have their own standards of good and bad, and they firmly believe that their mission is to control other people's luck. Although their ways are different, they frequently communicate and trade information with the Onmyo Monks, who practice curses as well.

"NEW" Onmyo Monks

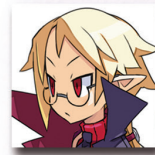

A race which controls a unique skill called Onmyo Magic; it was developed in another Netherworld to the East. Onmyo Magic incorporates various types of incantations and feng shui. Onmyo Monks and their unique powers attract the interest of many demons. Many demons request to train under the monks, but the ways of Onmyo Magic are only revealed to the people who are from where it originated.

Beast Masters

A group of top-class breeders and tamers of beasts. Their sole focus and passion is to raise the best beasts, and their knowledge and techniques in this field are second to none. They live far from civilization with their beasts, so they tend to be aggressive and cautious toward "others". However, once they commit to someone, they become very loyal.

"NEW" Professors

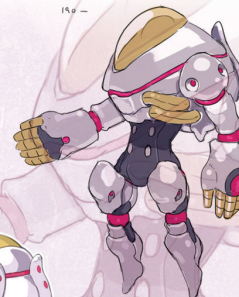

Professors study Nether science. It's a rare profession, since the Netherworld is generally structured around "evil powers". They base their Nether science on the scientific technologies they learned from the Human World. The field of Nether science is constantly expanding thanks to their efforts, but there are still many areas which are left unproven. They are the eternal researchers of truth.

"NEW" Bouncers

A group of bodyguards dressed in dark suits. Unlike the Armor Knights, Bouncers are only trained to protect. They will sacrifice their lives to protect their master, if needed. They worship Geneous, the legendary guardian, and follow the philosophy of "Protect thy master till death." Their poker face is part of their tactics, so that opponents can't read their thoughts.

"NEW" Battle Suits

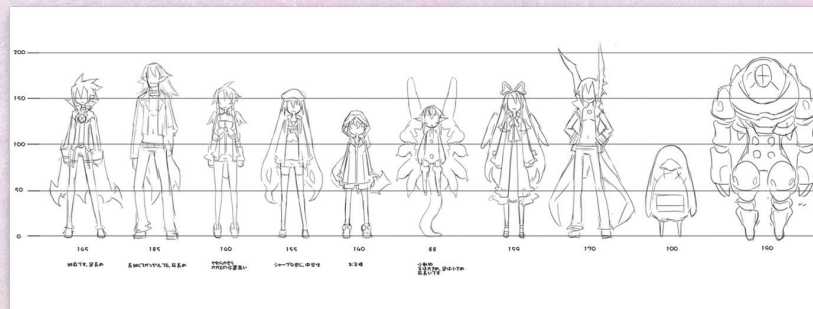

Special armor made for battle. A condensed body of energy flows inside the armor, increasing the physical stats of its wearer. You have to be trained to be able to handle this armor effectively.

"NEW" Androids

Female-modeled humanoid weaponry. The outer body is made from a special metal that is durable, yet flexible. They're equipped with artificial intelligence, which allows them to act on their own, but they're also very obedient in following their orders.

Comment by Character Designer: Takehito Harada

Thank you for your support as always. This is Harada. All of the main characters from this title are from different races, so I took full advantage of that while trying not to make it seem like too much. This was my first time handling all the in-game characters as well. It was a lot of work...so please enjoy all the skills, too!

Comment by Staff

The beginning of the story is set in a Netherworld prison, called Hades. Please look forward to seeing the world, which will expand outside of Hades as you progress through the game.

Comment by Staff

We tried to create a variety of atmospheres and designs, and not be bound by the idea of the setting of Hades. Since the character sprites have improved and changed, we tried to apply more detailed textures to the background as well.

Opening Anime Storyboards

Comment by Opening Anime Director Masakazu Hishida

Disgaea is filled with laughter, tears, and passion. I had to keep myself from swaying toward comedy and stick to conveying the seriousness in the storyboards. I was worried whether my work was going to be good enough to match up with the quality of the anime in the previous series. I put my all into creating this, and I'm honored to be a part of this project.

Intoxicated by everlasting pure ecstasy
Crimson revolution in a senseless night

An evanescent memory deeply engraved
Loneliness allured by a trap, the red moon is watching

Longing for the feathers falling wickedly
Dance with the darkness like there is no end

With a kiss called destiny, sweeter than a miracle
Spread the sinful wings, bloody melody that dyes in red

Bewilder the everlasting pure twilight
The singing echoes into clarity
The transience fantasy is no longer needed
Change the corrupted world
The cross of truth, the crimson promise

Believe in them...!

On which pier, after how many stars, will we meet again?
We listened to your song on the morning dew piano
until we were tired

Your face, wishing for it to last forever
That was when our journey began

While embracing your back, waiting for the wind, we became wings
I felt the everlasting warmth through your trembling shoulders
We flew away into the water with the warmth in our hearts

Even when the song of wind takes away the lost gaze
Our hearts will always be connected

Our fingers form a promise as they separate
When the wish spread and time stopped, as seasons passed
We, the little canaries, met
I'll come and see you at the end of the wind
No matter how many stars I must wait

Comment by Producer Souhei Niikawa

Thank you very much for purchasing the premium edition of Disgaea 4 Complete+. As the representative of all staff members, I give you my sincere gratitude. Thanks to all of you, the Disgaea series has reached its fourth installment.

One of the highlights of Disgaea 4 Complete+ is the lively characters drawn by Mr. Takehito Harada. Of course, the others include game systems which are deep and outrageous. "The customers would love to see the characters drawn by Mr. Harada come to life on the screen!" ...And after three years of trial and error by the staff and the full support of Mr. Harada, we were finally able to make it come true. (I can say this now, but we almost gave up many, many times...)

Aside from all that, the grinding system and the outrageously stupid game play have also powered up! We also implemented the network system to expand the fun factor. I hope everyone will be able to enjoy all of the factors stuffed into this one game to the fullest. (It'll probably take a ridiculously long time... I apologize in advance.)

We did our best to deliver a satisfactory product to the customers in various ways, from the bonus items to the game itself. I really hope, from the bottom of my heart, that everyone will continue to love and enjoy the world of Disgaea, as long as possible.
